

Rail Work Rule Dispute Heads For New Round

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a six-month cooling off period and forced settlement of two issues, the railroad work rules dispute appears to be headed for another crisis late next month.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz conceded as much Monday when he announced that the federal government once again is stepping in to try to mediate the dispute, now nearly five years old.

Wirtz, Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds and Chairman Francis A. O'Neil Jr. of the National Mediation Board meet today in closed session with the railroads and five operating brotherhoods.

Feb 25 Deadline

Wirtz met late Monday with railroads representatives, then the unions, and, finally, with both sides. Later he explained that the talks centered on "making the best use of the time that lies ahead of us."

On Feb. 25 a congressional deadline for settlement of the so-called secondary issues—issues not settled last November by compulsory arbitration—runs out and a nationwide rail strike could begin.

The issues involved in the current negotiations include such topics as wage structure, certain road and yard jobs, interdivisional runs, use of self-propelled equipment, night shift differentials, holiday pay and expenses away from home.

Progress Elusive

Wirtz hedged on any prediction that an agreement could be reached and said he hadn't talked to the negotiators about how much progress they had made in their weeks of bargaining.

There were strong indications earlier from Chicago that progress has been slight.

H. E. Gilbert, president of the Independent Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, told a news conference there would be a nationwide strike unless the railroads relented on their insistence on what he said would mean "severe wage reductions."

Eagles Gather

WEST GLACIER, Mont. (AP) — Bald eagles are swarming to Glacier National Park to feast on spawning land-locked salmon.

W. E. Welch, a park ranger, said he counted 352 bald eagles in a five-mile stretch along McDonald Creek and the middle fork of the Flathead River.

The latest official census lists a total of 3,807 bald eagles in the United States exclusive of Alaska.

Williams Says He Won't Run For Governor

By Gene Schroeder
(An AP News Analysis)

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Gov. G. Mennen Williams hopes to spend considerable time in Michigan this election year helping the Democratic ticket in what may be an uphill fight against the expected reelection bid of Gov. George Romney.

But Williams made it clear in an interview with the Associated Press that he will not return as a candidate himself for the chief executive post he held for an unprecedented 12 years.

Williams, now assistant secretary of state for African affairs, feels he can be of more service by continuing at his state department post, to which he was appointed in 1960 by the late President Kennedy.

"Three years of experience here has given me an opportunity to understand the situation and to make the contacts that nobody else has," he explained. "And I think that we're entering into a particularly critical period—especially with regard to southern Africa. So I feel that I can render the greatest service here."

Demos Have Leaders

"On the other hand, I think that the Democratic party has talent that can carry the fight in the campaign and talent to provide good government after winning the campaign."

If United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther urged him to run again for the governorship, Williams indicated that his answer would be the same.

"This is where I feel I can be of best service to all concerned," he reiterated.

Labor leaders in Michigan reportedly are cool to the candidacy of Rep. Neil Staebler, the only announced aspirant for the Democratic nomination so far.

Some feel that Staebler is not the dynamic figure needed to balance a ticket which presumably will include President Johnson and Sen. Philip Hart.

Williams disagreed with this theory, however, and praised Staebler, a long-time friend who helped map the strategy that gave Williams six consecutive terms in office.

Backs Staebler

"I think those who feel that Staebler can't make a good campaign are deluding themselves. I think he ran a good

Barry Charges LBJ Is Spender Who Talks Cuts

By WALTER R. MEARS

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, keynoting his bid for the White House, has called President Johnson a New Dealer who talks like a conservative and faces the liability of programs inherited from President John F. Kennedy.

"I am going to do everything in my power to return the presidency of the United States to the principles which have made this nation great and which can make it greater," the Arizona senator declared Monday night in his first address as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Goldwater said he thinks he already has some 500 of the 655 delegate votes it would take to win him top spot on the GOP ticket at the San Francisco convention next July.

Half Empty Hall

Goldwater made his first campaign speech at a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner which originally was scheduled Nov. 23, the day after President Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas, Tex.

He got a polite reception in a half-empty hall. Local Republicans explained they admitted only party contributors who bought tickets. They said 879 were sold.

Goldwater said he respects President Johnson but considers him "first of all today a leader bound by the commitments of his party. And in that role I shall and do oppose him with all the support I can gather. For his party is wrong."

"The President will expound on his inheritance from his predecessor's administration," Goldwater said. "These inherited proposals he must not and he cannot reject—or even materially revise."

Conservative Front

"These cannot be listed among President Johnson's assets," Goldwater said. "They are his liabilities."

The Arizona conservative said Johnson himself "knows that Republican ways are the ways to inspire Americans today."

"Even while he tells his staff that he is, frankly, a Roosevelt New Dealer, he tries to sell the public on the idea that he is a conservative."

Goldwater, who today launches his campaign in New Hampshire, says "our opponent is the Democratic regime now in power. I do not believe in intra-party blood-letting."

By ED MARKAITY

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, Arizona Republican candidate for his party's nomination as president, and Gov. George Romney, still a question mark in the race, went their separate ways Monday night after sharing public exposure here.

Romney headed for Washington and a National Press Club speaking engagement, one of many he has scheduled in coming months.

Goldwater was on the campaign trail at Concord, N. H., where he is entered in the primary elections.

They had a 15-minute closed conference and warm words for each other at the speaker's table before some 1,000 diners at a $100-a-plate Republican fund-raising dinner here.

Political Rally

Placard-bearing campaign boosters—most of them youngsters still unable to vote—and a five-piece jazz band made Goldwater's appearance a bona fide political rally.

For a time, however, the din was shared with a multi-alarm fire which caused damages of $250,000 in burning out a three-story business building a block away from Civic Auditorium where Goldwater was speaking.

Of the western visitor, Gov. Romney said "he has aroused more interest in the Republican Party and Republican affairs in the last few years than any other man in the party."

In return, Goldwater said, "I'm not sure, George, but that I was the first one to suggest that you run for governor."

Among the political leaders at the speaker's table were Republican representatives Gerald R. Ford Jr. and Robert P. Griffin with former Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield and Arthur Elliott, state central committee chairman.

Goldwater said he looked upon Ford as "a leader in our party... a young man who will go a long way" in public service.

Sign Sponsors Warned On Loss Of Highway Aid

By BOB VOGES

LANSING (AP)—Tourist associations and businessmen opposed to a State Highway Department policy forbidding advertising signs on highway right-of-way, were told Monday they might lose federal money unless the signs are torn down.

At the first session of a two-day hearing being conducted by Sen. Kent Lundgren, R-Menominee, senate committee chairman, there were no advocates of the highway stand except three department spokesmen.

Lundgren said he called the hearings because of confusing policies on roadside signing.

Businessmen and tourist associations were irate at having their signs ordered removed.

H. J. Rathfoot, highway department chief maintenance engineer, declared it was an order from the federal government.

Law Since 1925

The statutes calling for such sign removal have been on the books since 1925, he said, but have been enforced only recently.

"A survey showed," he said, "that in rural areas alone state highways were littered with signs on public right of way from one foot square to billboard size. There were 22,744 such signs counted in rural areas."

Rathfoot said cooperation in removal of the signs had been excellent. He estimated the voluntary removal rate at 88 per cent.

"The Upper Peninsula did not cooperate," he declared.

This angered Lundgren and

Animal Organs For 4 Humans

By The Associated Press

Kidneys from a monkey, a chimpanzee and two baboons have been transplanted in four humans since last October. Physicians at Tulane University Charity Hospital in New Orleans and Colorado General and the Veterans Administration hospitals in Denver who performed the operations have said that without the transplants the four recipients had no chance of survival.

A 32-year-old woman, who was not identified, received the first transplant of a primate's kidneys—a monkey—last October at Tulane. She later died of the disease that prompted the transplant.

Jefferson Davis, 44, a New Orleans dock worker, was believed to have been the second person to undergo such a transplant. He received the kidneys of a chimpanzee Nov. 5.

Davis died Monday at Charity Hospitals in New Orleans.

Dr. Brian McCracken, an internist, said the kidneys were functioning at the time of death. A chest infection followed by pneumonia was listed as the cause of death.

The transplants using the kidneys of baboons were both recorded at Colorado General Hospital. The first occurred Dec. 20 and the recipient was a 40-year-old man who is reported in good condition today.

The second transplant was reported Monday. Spokesmen said a 45-year-old man received two kidneys from a baboon in a 5½-hour operation. His condition was termed satisfactory.

An official statement said there is no cause for anxiety. The announcement followed cancellation of all Nehru's public engagements at the annual meeting here of the ruling Congress party.

Since suffering a urinary tract infection in 1962, Nehru's vitality has not been what it was.

Beside heading the government, Nehru also is foreign minister and kingpin of the Congress party.

Kavanaugh Is Chief Justice

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Supreme Court has selected Justice Thomas M. Kavanaugh, 54, as its new chief justice to replace the retired Leland W. Carr.

Kavanaugh, a former Democratic attorney general and a member of the high court since 1958, was elected unanimously to the chief justice's post as the court met Monday behind closed doors.

The appointment is effective through Dec. 31, 1966, the same date on which Kavanaugh's first term as a member of the court will expire.

Kavanaugh said he hoped to administer the court in a manner to "bring distinction to the court."

He also said that "many, varied and heavy" responsibilities will be placed upon the judicial administration of the court by the new constitution.

Although it had been expected, Kavanaugh's selection was swift and smooth in comparison to 1962, when political wrangling delayed the naming of a chief justice for three months.

Kavanaugh at that time had been considered a strong candidate for chief justice but was opposed by two other court members, also Democrats.

Carr, a Republican, was picked as a compromise choice. The Michigan Supreme Court technically is non-partisan but its members are nominated for election at political party conventions.

Kavanaugh assumes the chief justice's post at a time when the court has a lineup of five Democrats and three Republicans.

Born Aug. 4, 1909, near Carson City, Mich., Kavanaugh is a graduate of the University of Detroit Law School. He served as city attorney and city clerk in Carson city (1943-51) before entering state politics.

Kavanaugh was elected attorney general on the Democratic ticket in 1954 and again in 1956, but resigned during his second term to run for the court and was elected to an eight year term in 1957.

License Plates Top 4 Million

LANSING (AP)—For the first time in history, Michigan sold more than four million vehicle licenses last year.

Secy. of State James Hare said the 4,025,493 total included licenses for passenger and commercial vehicles and trailers, and that the yield to the state in weight tax was $71 million.

Hare urged motorists to get their 1964 license tabs early this year because he anticipates another sharp rise in license volume, with estimates running as high as 3.3 million passenger cars alone this year.

Police Absolved In Oswald Death

DALLAS (AP) — Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said Monday a lengthy police department investigation of the slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald shows "no evidence of collusion" between Jack Ruby and police officers.

Wade's statement came after he received a detailed two-volume report from Police Chief Jesse Curry on Ruby's slaying of the 24-year-old accused assassin of President Kennedy.

Can't Afford Poverty

In his personally delivered message Wednesday, Johnson is expected to expand on a theme he has been preaching for years—that the nation cannot afford to "surrender to poverty" just to "serve the ends of political bookkeeping."

A former school teacher, Johnson has laid heavy stress on education for the unskilled and those with skills outdated by automation who are, he said, thus "confined in an airtight case of poverty."

Johnson has given every sign that he will back to the hilt proposals Kennedy made for an $11 billion tax cut, enactment of a civil rights legislative program and for action on health care for the elderly financed through Social Security taxes.

Heavy Outlay For Domestic Push Planned

By JACK BELL

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson went over his State of the Union message today with Democratic congressional leaders who described it as "excellent" and "quite to the point."

Without going into detail, Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts said he thinks the American people will respond most favorably to the message.

It will be delivered in person by Johnson at noon Wednesday to a joint session of Congress, which opens its new session today.

Attack On Poverty

There was speculation that the message may contain proposals for a many-pronged attack on poverty through special education and other programs.

The Democratic President, struggling to keep the new budget below the $100 billion mark, nevertheless was said by Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield of Montana to be scheduling domestic spending at a higher level than in recent years.

Mansfield said some of this will be channeled into housing, unemployment assistance, educational and other programs aimed at improving living conditions and the level of employment among the nation's poor. Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said in a separate interview it remains to be seen whether Johnson can trim enough out of military outlays to finance such programs without breaking through the President's self-imposed limitation on expenditures.

Budget Trouble

"I have told the President that if he comes up with a Texas-size budget, he is going to be in trouble in Congress," Dirksen said. "On the other hand, if he cuts military expenditures to the point where Congress thinks national security is threatened, some of this money may be restored."

The second session of the 88th Congress gets under way at noon today, with indications that many members intend to prolong their holiday and not return until next week.

The House had before it a Senate-passed bill to rename the national cultural center in honor of the late John F. Kennedy and provide some federal financing for it. The Senate had no major business scheduled.

Ribicoff Won't Be A Candidate

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut, often mentioned in speculation about the Democratic vice presidential nominee, says he's not a candidate.

"I think there are other men more qualified for the vice presidency than I," Ribicoff told a reporter in Los Angeles.

Ribicoff, 53, was secretary of welfare in President Kennedy's Cabinet. He was in Los Angeles to make a speech.

Voting Precinct Change Studied

Changes in voting precinct areas in Escanaba and a reduction of the total number of precincts from 9 to 7 is proposed in a study undertaken by the city election commission and other interested persons.

The election commission is composed of City Clerk Don Guindon, City Attorney John Erickson and City Assessor Charles Schmidt.

They and Bruno Nardi, Michigan election supervisor; County Clerk William Butler; John Walbridge, Delta County Republican Committee chairman; and Atty. James Chapekis, chairman of the Delta County Democratic Committee, will meet at 4 p. m., Wednesday, Jan. 15, in the City Hall.

At that time the study group will analyze the relocating of all precinct boundary lines in Escanaba, said City Clerk Guindon.

Voters Total 7,475

Guindon said his office undertook the study with the hope the number of city precincts can be reduced from 9 to 7 "which will eventually save both the city and the school districts considerable moneys in election expense."

He noted that a change in polling place has occurred in one precinct with the razing of the Franklin School and that the city is considering abolishing both fire stations as voting precincts.

Escanaba has a total of 7,475 registered voters. The first precinct has 650, the second 784, third 497, fourth 828, fifth 740, sixth 862, seventh 651, eighth 682, ninth 1,540.

Notify 861 Here

Under Michigan election law, citizens who have not voted within the past two years will have their names removed from the registration if they do not re-register by Jan. 15.

The city clerk mailed 861 re-registration notices recently and to date only a few have been returned. The deadline for the return of the cards is Jan. 15.

"Should the persons who have been notified fail to return the cards or otherwise notify us, they may also forget to re-register later and thus they would be disqualified under law from voting this year in the presidential election," Guindon said. "I'm sure they would not want this to happen."

Failing to return the cards means the name of the citizen will go into the "dead" file and his name removed from the voting list.

City Clerk Guindon said that full information concerning the precinct changes, if and when they are made, will be presented to the public. All registered voters affected by the proposed change will be notified after the Jan. 15 meeting.

Romney Will Extend Tour

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney said that he has accepted an invitation to speak Jan. 23 at a dinner being held by the National Organization of Young Republicans at Washington, D.C.

Romney told his press conference Monday he has broadened the schedule of his visit to Washington this week to include a visit to District of Columbia Republican headquarters, and a private reception for GOP state chairmen. He already was scheduled to address the National Press Club Tuesday on GOP goals.

Romney said his basic purpose for being in Washington Jan. 23 will be a meeting of the Federal-State Relations Committee of the Council of State Governments.

Romney instigated a resolution adopted earlier by the council to give state governments the right of court appeal from decisions of federal agency administrators.

The meeting, he said, will be to discuss steps toward carrying out the resolution.

The question is one on which Romney has strong personal views as a result of the controversy last year over federal refusal to accept a Michigan plan for obtaining federal Aid to Dependent Children of Unemployed (ADC-U) funds.

Postmaster At Rock Retires

By MRS. ALBERT WELDUM

ROCK—After 27 years of continuous service as postmaster, at Rock, Mrs. Edith Kleiber has retired.

Francis Trombly, who has been career substitute clerk for the past 18 years, has been appointed acting postmaster. Mrs. Jane Salo, who has been substitute clerk for 18 years, remains in this job.

Mrs. Kleiber succeeded Ed Huff as postmaster on May 25, 1936. Since those depression years there have been many changes in the Post Office, recalls Mrs. Kleiber. The mail route was much shorter, volume of mail was much less and there was no airmail.

The rural route was then 31 miles long, now it covers 73 miles, driven by mail carrier John Jokela. The rural route has been extended three times in the Rock area. In addition, the Lathrop post office was closed Aug. 16, 1951 and the Turin post office on May 1, 1954. Rock added this area to its route.

There are about 400 patrons receiving mail in the 109 rental boxes in the post office and 1,025 patrons receiving mail in the 265 rural boxes.

A message could be sent on a penny postcard back in 1936 and a 2c stamp mailed a sealed letter. Special delivery was 10c, now it is 30c. A money order could be purchased for 6-8-10c, now the rate is 20-30-35c.

When the first airmail flight was made from Escanaba, June 1, 1950, Rock was urged to participate. After writing two letters herself, Mrs. Kleiber persuaded four other persons to write an airmail letter. Her husband Jay took these six letters with his car to Escanaba to catch the first airmail flight. An airmail stamp at that time was 6c. Now it is 8c. Outgoing airmail letters now total about 20 daily.

Had Many Names

Overseas mail is not as great in number as it was in 1946, after World War II. Then the Finnish people sent many packages to Finland to help the war ravaged Finns. One patron says he mailed over 500 parcels.

"It seemed like two Christmas seasons," recalls Mrs. Kleiber. "The overseas rush began the latter part of October and lasted until first week of November, and the second rush for the States began later."

The first post office opened in Rock 93 years ago, in 1871 and was called Whelan because a Mr. and Mrs. Whelan operated it. After identification by such names as Walton, DeBaque and Maple Ridge it was named Rock, a name chosen by Herman Johnson Sr., then supervisor of Maple Ridge Township. He chose a name which was short, easy to spell and remember.

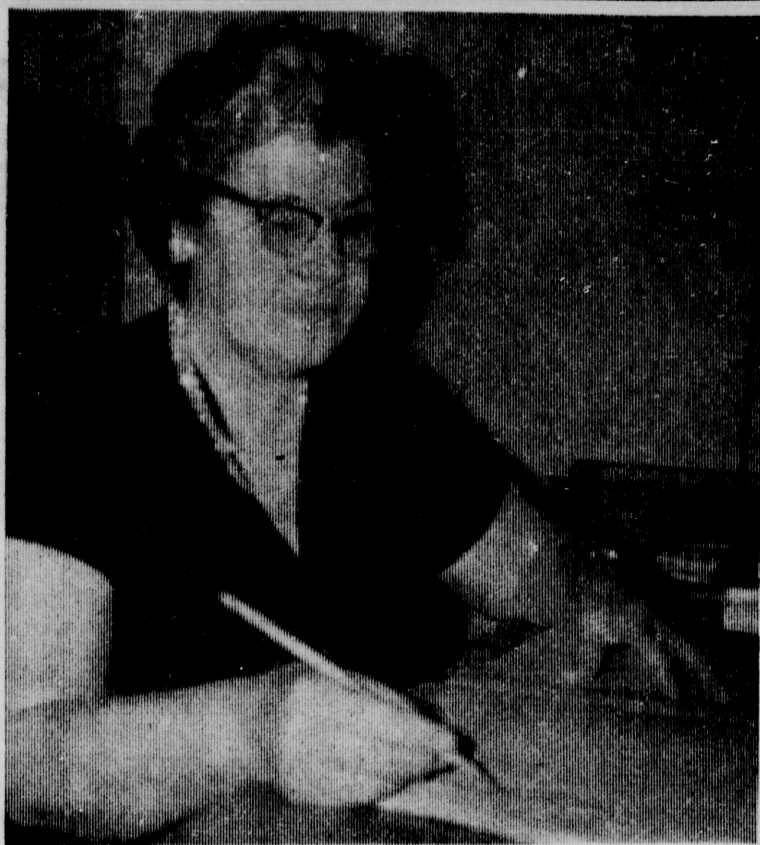

To Leave Rock

Mrs. Kleiber father-in-law, John B. Kleiber, was postmaster before he died in 1904. Larson's store had housed the post office for a while. Later Jay Huff was postmaster until succeeded by Mrs. Kleiber.

The present post office was built by Herb Westlund and rented by the government. It was opened for business on Dec. 1, 1951. The old post office building was eventually moved to be used as the Baptist Chapel south of Perkins.

Mrs. Kleiber was honored with a gift from the postal employees upon her retirement. Mr. and Mrs. Kleiber hope to spend their winters in Florida and summers in their new home near Menominee.

They say they will miss their friends in Rock, but they are very happy about living near Menominee because they will be centrally located as far as their three children and their families are concerned. Rita Baltus lives in Wausau, Wis., Keith in Menominee and John in Gladstone.

Increasing Costs

We will wait with interest further elaboration of Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz's announcement, with President Lyndon Johnson's implicit approval that overtime pay should be eliminated in order to create additional jobs for the unemployed.

Wire stories on the subject on Saturday were a bit fuzzy. The cause was either fuzzy thinking on the part of Mr. Wirtz and President Johnson or poor editing by our press association. Time will tell.

Reference is made to a wage hike, but it is not stated whether this applies to the federal minimum wage law, now $1.25 per hour, or wage rates generally.

We have no quarrel about raising wage rates except that it will work a terrific hardship on established business that are engaged in interstate commerce. We do have, however, serious misgivings about Mr. Wirtz's proposal to eliminate time and a half for overtime on a 40 hour week. Many businesses, large and small, pay overtime after 35, 36 or 37 hours, which amounts to extra take-home pay.

What Mr. Wirtz suggests is that the employer be forced to pay more for overtime work to discourage overtime, thus requiring the employment of additional workers to get the job done at greater cost.

Small business generally has been caught in a cost price squeeze for a long time. While volume, for one reason or another, has gone up, profits have held even or gone down. One should not be fooled by the impressive action of the stock market in 1963 or by the spectacular performance of the automotive industry, to which much of our national economy is geared. Small business is hurting while the spot light is on industries keyed to our 50 billion defense expenditure.

We hope that Mr. Wirtz has been misquoted. If he hasn't been, he has, with the President's apparent blessing, given the new administration its greatest blow since the assassination of President Kennedy. If President Johnson wants to play God with American business, why doesn't he speak for himself, rather than through the secretary of labor?

Man's Environment

The past year and the one just beginning may well be remembered as the time when conservation ceased to be mere conversation and turned into a popular cause.

That controversial foray against the misuse of chemicals, "Silent Spring," is still anything but silent. A new book has joined the lists — "The Quiet Crisis," by Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall, dealing with the threat posed to our natural resources and remaining wilderness areas by a burgeoning consuming population.

A constant theme runs through all such writing: Man's squandering of nature's bounty as it had no limit.

An article in John Stroh's National Wildlife magazine "Man is the only creature that seemingly stands aloof from the web of living things," writes natural history author Peter Farb, "since he is able to make a home for himself almost anywhere in the world."

"He jets from hemisphere to hemisphere, his bathyscaphes have descended nearly seven miles into the sea, and he mans satellites that whirl around the planet."

"But impressive as these accomplishments are, man in reality has never left his ecological (environmental) home. He still needs air to breathe, water to drink and suitable food."

We speak of the need for a rule of law in international affairs today. The tragic truth is that in relation to his physical environment, man has been a lawbreaker ever since he left the cave and became a farmer instead of a hunter — misusing land and forests and water, shaping the development of certain animals, exterminating others. Today he has no serious rival for dominion over the continents and oceans.

"Man's present predicament," says Farb, "is being a ruler over the earth without knowing the rules."

So far man has gotten away with it. But ignorance of the law is no excuse and we must soon make a decision: Either we continue to put our faith in technology and build a man-centered planet in which we are increasingly alienated from several billion years of biological history, or we will work in harmony with the ecological laws that govern all life.

On the one hand, it is a matter of sheer survival in a world that sees a population equal to the city of Chicago added each month (and witness a population equal to Binghamton, N. Y., die of starvation or malnutrition every week.)

On the other hand, it is a question of whether men want to pass on to their posterity a world where such proud individualists like the grizzly or bald eagle still roam free in areas of scenic grandeur or whether such things are only memories and pictures on calendars.

Ads Aid Impulse

Out of research of recent years into the American behavior has come the term "impulse buying," the greatest boon to business since the invention of credit.

Department of Agriculture extension economists at the University of New Hampshire have discovered that impulse buying is not only increasing but that it breaks down into four broad types:

1. "Pure impulse buying," the kind most people would think of, is the novelty or "escape" purchase, the exception to the normal buying pattern. (This accounts for a relatively small percentage of purchases.)

2. "Reminder impulse buying" occurs when a shopper sees an item and recalls an advertisement about it and a previous decision to buy, or remembers that the supply at home is exhausted or low.

3. Next is "suggested impulse buying" which happens when a shopper sees a product for the first time and visualizes a need for it. This can be a perfectly rational act and is not the same as the emotional reaction involved in "pure impulse buying."

4. Lastly, "planned impulse buying" is the category in which a shopper enters a store with specific purchases in mind but with the expectation of making other on-the-spot purchases, depending on price specials, coupons and the like.

The economists believe that "planned impulse buying" has been a companion development along with self-service stores which allow shoppers to explore and compare products at their leisure. It's also related to the increased use of advertising and attractive in-store displays.

In sum, the researchers have found that when the buying is easy, there is a greater likelihood that the purchase will be made on impulse.

Ring in the New

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Another round is coming up in the 13-year court battle to make the Communist Party of the United States register with the attorney general as "an instrumentality of a conspiracy" to overthrow the U. S. government.

Department of Justice will soon ask the U. S. Court of Appeals in Washington to rehear before its full bench of nine judges the case against the Communist Party of the United States for refusal to register under the Internal Security Act of 1950, and to disclose its membership and finances.

A three-judge panel of the Appeals Court under Chief Judge David L. Bazelon recently reversed the opinion of the U. S. District Court for the District of Columbia in this case.

The district court in December 1962 found the Communist Party guilty of refusing to register and fined it $120,000. This was assessed on the basis of $10,000 for the original refusal to register and $10,000 a day for 11 days further refusal to register prior to Dec. 1, 1961.

Though the appeals court's reversal of this opinion was at first interpreted as a serious setback in the government's long legal war against the Communist Party in America, it does not affect in any way the basic U. S. Supreme Court decision of June 1961.

This 5-4 decision, in the majority opinion written by former Justice Felix Frankfurter, upheld Internal Security and Subversive Activities Control Act requirements that the Communist Party must register.

In substance, all that the three-judge Appeals Court panel did was to point out that the Department of Justice would have trouble in enforcing legislation requiring Communists to register if any of the party members exercised the Fifth Amendment. This provides that no person "shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself."

From a legal standpoint, the interesting thing about the three-judge Appeals Court opinion is that its objection to the District Court's conviction of the Communist Party was on the same point made by Supreme Court Associate Justices William O. Douglas and William J. Brennan Jr., in their dissenting opinions on the Supreme Court 1961 decision.

Chief Justice Earl Warren agreed with this dissent, and went further in declaring that the original Subversive Activities Control Board's order that the Communist Party must register should be nullified for procedural flaws. Associate Justice Hugo Black dissented on the ground that he considered the Internal Security Act unconstitutional.

This last point also was the opinion of Harry S. Truman when he vetoed the Internal Security Act, more familiarly known as the McCarran act. Congress passed it over the President's veto.

These dissents are being cited now as evidence of weakness in the basic law. Amendments may be proposed next year.

But it is noteworthy that on the same day the Appeals Court reversed the earlier opinion in the Communist Party case, it also upheld orders of the Subversive Activities Control Board that four Communist front organizations be required to register.

They are Veterans of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade, United May Day Committee, American Committee for Protection of the Foreign Born and the Jefferson School of Social Science.

The Government's battle to force registration of Communists therefore goes on uninterrupted before Subversive Activities Control Board under Chairman Francis A. Cherry. SACB's report for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1963, just filed, shows that the board had 37 membership cases before it. In 25 of these cases the board has ordered registration.

Public demand that this legal battle against the Communists be intensified is building up as a result of President Kennedy's assassination by a self-styled "Marxist."

Courteous Thief Parks Customers

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A young man broke into a downtown parking lot office. Cars began to pull into the lot. Pretending he was an employee, he parked the cars and collected 50 cents from each driver.

Police said Sunday the man fled with about $20 in parking fees and the change from a soft drink machine.

One customer said the man was "very polite, parked the cars well and seemed to really know what he was doing," police reported.

Skiing Is $25 Million Business In Michigan

By BOB VOGES
AP Outdoor Writer

LANSING (AP)—The first fellow ever to slide down a snowy hill on a pair of sticks would be amazed now to see what a business he started.

Skiing was a $20 million business in Michigan last year. Given good snow, the industry should net at least $25 million in 1964.

Michigan has 85 winter sports centers now, the most in the nation. The number is climbing. An estimated 220,000 skiers will use these facilities if snow conditions are as good as in recent years.

"Our winter business should well top the record $20 million season last year," said William McGraw, director of the Michigan Tourist Council.

That first fellow to climb up the hill again because he enjoyed sliding down on his wooden sticks would look out of place if he tried it in Michigan's modern ski centers.

You ride up the hill in ski lifts now.

Skiing is getting to be a family sport. More and more families are taking winter vacations, bringing the children along and enjoying the mid-week family rates offered at many resorts.

Besides skiing, they can skate, toboggan or use the resort as a headquarters for hunting or ice fishing.

Some of the resorts are putting in outdoor, heated swimming pools. For armchair athletes there is good food and generally one or more cocktail lounges.

Skiing has become a glamorized sport. Imported instructors from Switzerland and other European ski spots teach the novices.

But it has become a less expensive sport than in former years. There has been a gradual lowering in the cost of equipment.

The skiing boom in Michigan started after World War II. There were only 38 winter sports centers in the state 10 years ago, compared with the 85 now.

Loans have been available in recent years from the federal government, through such agencies as the Small Business Administration, to help build the sports centers. Most such centers also figure on summer and year-around business to gather the dollars spent on recreation 12 months of a year.

There are skiing spots—as far south in Michigan as Little Switzerland at Three Rivers, near the southern border, up north to Mont Ripley in the Houghton-Hancock area. The biggest concentration is in northern Lower Michigan, where they vie with each other in offering extra attractions.

Reports on snow conditions over each weekend are important items in the newspapers, as the devotees try to figure where they will have the most sport.

It is a booming business — thanks to that first fellow who experimented with the art of sliding downhill on a pair of sticks.

Business Gain Prediction Chorus Swells

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Rising stock prices and fatter corporate profits have cast a rosy glow over most of the predictions business executives are busy issuing these days.

Caution, often a dominant note in such forecasts in the past, is less in evidence this year. Rather, confidence that still loftier heights will be climbed in 1964 is the general keynote.

On such confidence at business and consumer levels economic growth is built — on confidence it has often stubbed its toes.

In financial circles there is general expectation that President Johnson in his State of the Union message Wednesday will stress the prospects for a continued business upswing which his economic advisers have been expressing.

Caution Helps

Still, one chief reason today's business picture is so bright is that the caution of the last year or so has kept most businessmen from repeating the mistakes that led past business upswings into excesses and caused recessions. There has been no big buildup in inventories, for example, and no rush to over-expand industrial capacity.

The absence of such excesses is cited as one of the strongest factors in the industrial and trade position at present and of the chance that today's business upswing may achieve a record for longevity.

And in the stock market, also, signs of excesses still aren't too convincing. The public may be coming back into the market, but the professionals seem in control. And the public hasn't indulged as yet in the excess speculation that sent the 1961 market for untried and questionable stocks to a peak that led to a bust.

Some Hang Back

For all of the general optimism today, there is the usual hard core of observers whose motto is: "When everyone seems to be predicting a big year ahead, watch out!"

They are slow to believe that a new era is at hand — an era in which the business cycle is a thing of the past. The present upswing is nearly three years old now, a near record for peacetime. The pessimists like to point out that optimism and the forsaking of caution has often reached a peak just when the economic upturn also was topping out.

But today's statistics speak loudly of the health of the economy now. They also foretell a momentum that seems sure to keep the prosperity going for some months to come.

Government Food Gifts Declining Across Midwest

Approximately 246,500 persons in Michigan received food donated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in October. The number of persons receiving the food represented 87 per cent of the 284,500 certified as eligible to receive it by state and county welfare agencies.

The number of participants and eligibles have continued to decline throughout 11 Midwest states. Persons receiving foods dropped from a total of 950,000 in September to 946,000 in October, while the number of eligibles was 1,141,000 against 1,123,000 respectively.

Nationally, however, numbers remained relatively stable. Flour was the leading commodity distributed, followed by rice, dry milk, beans, rolled wheat, lard/shortening, chopped meat, cheese, corn meal, peanut butter and butter.

Advisors

LANSING (AP) — The Rev. William Swets of Holland and Lawrence Bausano of Eagle River Monday were named to the Advisory Council on Tuberculosis Sanatoriums, succeeding the Rev. C. C. Watkins of Flint and Benjamin Bailey of Detroit, both for three year terms. The appointments were made by Gov. George Romney.

Computer Star Of Farmer Week

EAST LANSING (AP)—Farmers attending the 49th annual Farmer's Week Feb. 3-7 at Michigan State University are promised loads of information and advice—both from economists and computers.

MSU will have its 1620 computer available. Farmers looking for analyses of the weak and strong points of their operations are asked to bring accurate statistical records.

Economists will discuss job opportunities for farm youths, state legislation to improve markets, pros and cons on trade with Russia, young families' efforts to establish farms and labor-management problems.

A special program called "Short Shorts" will be offered on ten subjects Thursday morning.

Citations for distinguished service to agriculture will be awarded to Edward Wright of Saginaw, Arthur Sackett of Edmore and E. J. Clabuesch of Pigeon.

Sackett and his son Ray operate a 600-acre farm in Montcalm County and he is a leader in the potato industry. Wright, active in Michigan dairying, is a member of the State Agriculture Commission. Clabuesch is president of Pigeon State Bank.

DOCTORS BEAT SMOKING HABIT

NEW YORK — The report presented to the 17th annual clinical meeting of the American Medical Association on December 4, 1963 states:

"Lung cancer death rates were 11 times as high among current cigarette smokers as among men who never smoked regularly and 18 times as high among very heavy cigarette smokers as among men who never smoked regularly."

"Lung cancer death rates were considerably lower among ex-cigarette smokers who had given up the habit for several years than among current cigarette smokers."

European and American methods and medications offering smokers relief from the tobacco habit have been carefully studied by the Medical Board of the National Council on Smoking and Health and the best features of these methods have been incorporated in a new "tablet and method" program which is effective in helping smokers stop smoking safely and easily within 10 to 15 days.

A complete report on this program has just been released and smokers may have a FREE copy by sending their name and address to the National Council on Smoking and Health, Inc., Dept. 401N4, 225 East 46th Street, New York 17, New York. ADVT.

New Fashions Not Geared To Moderate Means

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Being a clothes horse is an expensive proposition for the average - income woman.

This became more self-evident to newsmen here for Press Week activities with each of Monday's shows arranged by the New York Couture Group and the American Designers.

Although no more extravagant than last year, couturier designs still are astronomically out of reach of all but one of every 1,000 women.

Larger Wardrobes

The styles, even reproduced at ready-to-wear prices, will require larger wardrobes. The woman who sews her own will find that design piracy is difficult. If she does acquire the garments, she will spend a mint pawning them out of the dry cleaners.

In place of the basic dress that nobody quite remembers screaming color combinations and bold, attention-demanding patterns. Both Adele Simpson and Donald Brooks made use of these in their collections. Naturally, a woman needs more of these, since the same shouting costume wears on the memory.

Further, shouting fabric linings in jackets and coats match up with blouses or dresses, and a new coat for every dress is a strain on anybody's budget.

Not Simple

The semi-fitted suit is not as easy to make as last year's box jacket, Harry Fretzel explained to the writers, showing a variety of such silk and men's wear worsted suits. Bias-cut dresses, miserable to fit and sew unless you are a professional, were among the challenges offered by designers Brooks and Roxanne of Samuel Winston. Models floated onstage in romantic chiffon clouds, all bias cut, and a small fortune in yardage alone.

Dust catchers, along with those floor-sweeping skirts, are voluminous sleeves, pretty and romantic, but as dry-cleaner prone as Roxanne of Winston's white knit dresses with striped panels.

THE ENGAGEMENT of their daughter, Judith Marie, to Harold Francis Schermer is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Anderson of 516 S. 14th St. The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schermer of Schaffer. April 11 has been selected as the wedding date. (Ridings Photo)

The bride wore a three-piece street length winter white knit suit. The fitted bodice was embroidered in pale pink flowers. She chose pink accessories and her corsage was of white gardenias. Her crystal necklace and bracelet were the bridegroom's gift.

Mrs. Karl J. Hammar, who attended her, wore a navy wool dress and her corsage also was of white gardenias.

A reception at the home of the bride followed the ceremony.

The newlyweds will make their home in Ford River.

Mrs. Johnson To Visit Mine Distress Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson flies Saturday to the hard coal country of Pennsylvania to give a speech and to see how Uncle Sam is helping miners and towns struck by unemployment.

The First Lady delivers her brief address at the dedication of a new research center at Wilkes College, Wilkes-Barre, built with the aid of federal funds.

The research center, operated on a grant from the Ford Foundation, determines a community's training needs to attract new industries to the pinched anthracite area and thus provide new jobs.

Mrs. Johnson made a similar excursion into depressed areas of West Virginia last spring when her husband was vice president to call attention to the work of the Area Redevelopment Administration.

Mrs. Johnson will be accompanied on her one-day trip to the Wilkes-Barre area by ARA Administrator William L. Batt Jr. and will look over a number of projects where coal miners are being retrained for new trades.

MANISTIQUE Foreign Language Tourist Folder Need Foreseen

Two hundred years before John Greenleaf Whittier wrote his poem about Michigan's destiny, Jean Nicolet paddled by Manistique harbor and was probably the first white man to see the area where the city is. Ken Dorman, executive secretary of the Upper Michigan Tourist Assn., told the Rotary Club Monday.

Introduced by E. J. Thompson, Dorman noted Michigan has many advantages, pointing out among them that "We don't have to bond the state for water. We have lots of it." Dorman spoke of the advertising program of the UMTA and its work with the Michigan Tourist Council for the total state program. The area must be increasingly active to get a share of this business, made possible by paid vacations in industry, as it is highly competitive, he said. The Tourist Association official outlined efforts for increased land use, such as the retirement home program. A

Plan Airport Light Project

Schoolcraft Board of Supervisors Monday took first steps toward providing lighting and navigational facilities at the county airport. The board authorized transfer of $4,000 from its airport fund to a sinking fund for the work. Next year $2,000 will be added.

When the fund is at the $6,000 mark application will be made to state and federal aviation authorities for matching funds to provide a $24,000 project. Safety fencing also will be erected.

In other actions the board approved a $316 unicom purchase for the airport. It is a navigation communication aid.

The board set the salary of John Carstenson, newly-appointed to the friend of the court post here at $100 a month with expenses of $300 per year. He will work with the circuit judge in divorce investigations and enforcement of support orders.

Mrs. Jeanne Gorham reported necessary papers have been filed to integrate the county and state welfare offices here, with action to await state welfare commission action about Jan. 20. Robert Ehl was appointed to the Welfare Board.

Veteran burial payments were approved for Raymond F. Witsche and Archie MacGregor.

Plat books will be available shortly through the 4-H Leaders Assn., and will be sold at $4 each. The Leaders Assn., sold $2,400 in advertising for it and cost will be about $4,240. Proceeds go to aid 4-H work in the county.

City And County Building Urged

A proposal was made at the County Board of Supervisors meeting Monday which could result in a combined city-county building at the courthouse site.

Lindsley Frenette, Gulliver supervisor, noted the sheriff has to provide 24-hour service and the City Public Safety Department, similarly. The sheriff operates the jail, and the city has none.

Savings could be affected in providing for the public safety and at the same time obtain suitable quarters, not only for the safety department but other county offices, it was noted. The county indicated that if the city sold some of its property and the county sold Cloverland Lodge, this could provide a start. Several supervisors appeared to favor the proposal.

Phone Workers Join Teamsters

NEW YORK (AP)—The executive board of a 10,000-member local which pulled out of the AFL-CIO Communications Workers of America has voted unanimously to affiliate with the independent Teamsters Union.

The local, No. 1101, represents plant workers of the New York Telephone Co. in part of the New York metropolitan area.

Members voted Monday night to withdraw from the CWA but left the future of the local in the hands of the executive board.

The board's decision was announced Thursday.

Henry Habel, president of Local 1101, had accused CWA President Joseph Beirn of negotiating "sweetheart" contracts favoring the telephone company at the expense of union members.

Five other CWA locals, representing 6,500 telephone company workers on Long Island and in suburban Westchester County, supported the parent union against the move by Local 1101.

County Hears Cloverland Lodge Closing Report

Cloverland Lodge was closed by order of the State Health Department and the fire marshal's office. This resulted from failure of the private operator to meet state regulations, and was not the fault of the county board nor the city council, Dr. R. A. Teanum, director of the Alger-Schoolcraft Health Department said Monday at the meeting of the Schoolcraft Board of Supervisors.

The home failed to meet nursing home standards as well as those of the fire marshal's office, Dr. Teanum said.

He cited a report of the Health Department showing pills were given a diabetic without a physician's written order, that doctor's orders and diets were not written, that charts were not recorded frequently enough, that some patients had beginnings of bed sores, that a registered nurse or registered practical nurse was not engaged to supervise the home.

That three aides per shift in the afternoons and evenings, not two were necessary, that not all patients there were under continuing care of a physician, that patients were not given x-ray prior to admission to guard against tuberculosis, that medications were not kept under lock and key, that some upstairs patients were not truly ambulatory, that beds were poorly made and patients were found lying with soiled diapers and that general appearance of the home was poor, with dust on furniture, papers spread on the hall floor after washing and unclear urinals.

There seemed to be a lack of care about the patients and a lack of respect for privacy and no plan of treatment, Dr. Teanum cited from the report. The operator was given three years under a provisional license to comply and did not, he said.

The board conferred with C. Vern Smith on insurance on the Lodge building, now empty, and authorized its building and grounds committee to make necessary reductions in the coverage. The building has been insured for $63,000 and contents at $5,000. The county leased the building for use as a convalescent home and did not operate the home itself. It will offer the building for sale.

The board adopted a resolution regarding uniform, equitable location of highway signs and was to be represented by Agner Dehlin at the state hearing in Lansing today. Ralph Williams of the Chamber of Commerce was also to attend. Carl Graves of the Chamber of Commerce presented information on the hearing.

William Bradley and Wilfred Johnson appeared regarding possibilities of private camper parks and regulations for them. Lindsley Frenette, chairman of the board's park committee, was asked to meet with them and other interested persons on problems affecting the private operators.

State Police ticketed Gary L. Sables of Clifford for speeding, Charles J. Donner, Blaney Park for improper parking on roadway.

Dressen Happy With Improved Tiger Outlook

DETROIT (AP)—Spring training is more than a month away, but Detroit Tigers manager Charlie Dressen already is saying his club will be "the most improved team in the American League in 1964."

Dressen, just in from Los Angeles for the start of a two-week tour through Detroit and out-state Michigan, told the Detroit chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association Monday that "we have done more with our club than anyone else in the league."

"Our team this year promises to be exciting and interesting," Dressen said.

"When we got Don Demeter from Philadelphia (for pitcher Jim Bunning and catcher Gus Triandos), we picked up speed and defense without sacrificing hitting."

"Demeter should hit for a higher average than Rocky Colavito, the man he's replacing, and last year he hit as many home runs (22), as well as 20 doubles."

"Jerry Lumpe, coming to us from Kansas City (along with pitchers Ed Rakow and Dave Wickersham for Colavito and pitcher Bob Anderson), should help our infield as much as Demeter does the outfield. He's as good an all-around second baseman as there is in baseball today and he ought to increase our double plays."

Iowa Handed Probation Term; NCAA Is Lenient

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association still is cracking the whip but some of the sting is gone.

"It's not that we're getting soft," Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said today after chiding five institutions for recruiting violations and relaxing sanctions against a sixth.

"It's just that the colleges are behaving better—we are having fewer and fewer major abuses."

The University of Iowa and little Centenary College of Shreveport, La., each drew a one year probation. Alabama and Houston were officially reprimanded, and Washington State got off lightest of all—a word of caution.

At the same time, Indiana University, under a four-year probationary penalty, had its sanctions relaxed so that Indiana athletes might compete in events pointing to the 1964 Olympic Games at Tokyo.

Leniency was the mood of the feared NCAA council, sports policy-making body of some 600 colleges and universities, in disclosing punishment for those members who had not adhered strictly to the rules.

Besides Indiana, New Mexico State, Hardin-Simmons, Dayton and Colorado are major universities which have been slapped with sanctions in recent years. Most of these sanctions end this year.

The University of Iowa was found guilty of the largest number of transgressions—enough to fill a full page of typewritten copy.

They included:
1. A football player who held a campus job during summer school and received pay for work he didn't perform. This happened in 1961.

2. A basketball player, holding an off-campus job, received a $75 advance from his employer and then dropped out of school before paying back the money.

3. A group of basketball players visiting the campus were given uniforms and permitted to practice with members of the university team, at times in presence of the coaches.

4. A football player was contacted at another institution without Iowa first contacting the athletic director of the other school.

The council frowned on these acts but said, like a forgiving parent, that they "did not reflect any pattern and disregard for the governing rules of the association."

Centenary was accused of transporting prospective basketball players to the campus and back in a private company airplane in violation of the sanity code.

"It happened more than once," Byers said, but added that the school authorities had been most penitent and cooperative in the investigations.

Houston had its wrist slapped for transporting two football players to the campus in a private plane. This became a violation when the representative failed to accompany the prospects, who wound up not entering the school after all.

Alabama was censured and reprimanded because its coaches contacted a football player who was enrolled at another school without notifying the other school's athletic director.

Alabama officials said it was a matter of misinterpretation of the words "student athlete" since the player in question had not competed at the other school but had entered merely to get proper credits.

Biggest Surprise
Washington State was cautioned for a similar violation involving a track athlete. The punishment was lighter because Washington State reported the violation itself, Byers said.

The day's biggest surprise was the relaxation of sanctions against Indiana.

Under the move, Indiana athletes, previously barred from postseason activity and title events, were given permission to compete in any competition pointing to the Tokyo Olympics.

This opened the door for Indiana's fine squad of swimmers, including several record holders, basketball players, gymnasts and wrestlers.

Indiana is eligible to compete in the NCAA basketball tournament, from which it had been barred.

Bronco Coach 'Strung Up'

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Head basketball coach Don Boven Monday became the second Western Michigan University coach to be hung in effigy this year in protests against losing athletic teams.

An effigy of Boven, accompanied by the words "loser leave" written on windows, was found hanging in front of the school's administration building.

Former head football coach Merle Schlosser was hung in effigy twice earlier this year and was later removed from his post and assigned to a job in the school's physical education department.

Western, regarded as a pre-season favorite in the Mid American Conference, lost its conference basketball opener to Miami, 86-79, Saturday. The school has a season record of three victories and seven defeats.

Boven, in his sixth season at Western, has won 63 games and lost 75.

84-72 in a nonconference clash. There were plenty of points in the Xavier of Ohio-Detroit game with Xavier winning 121-113.

South Carolina shot 60 per cent from the field and handed Maryland its first Atlantic Coast Conference setback 73-69. Texas Western grabbed a 77-72 decision over Arizona State.

In other major games, North-western downed Indiana 79-63, Michigan State clouted Wisconsin 106-90, Nebraska dumped Iowa State 55-52, Oklahoma State outscored Kansas 61-48, Missouri stopped Oklahoma 84-74, Furman beat Wake Forest 66-58, George Washington whipped Virginia Tech 96-89, The Citadel topped William and Mary 63-60, Mississippi slipped by Auburn 59-58, Mississippi State downed Alabama 69-56, Louisiana State whacked Florida 87-65 and Arizona knocked off Seattle 59-55.

John Ed Miller was the star for seventh-ranked Vanderbilt in an 85-83 thriller. His last second jump from 30 feet out won Central Mich. 43, Hillsdale 43, Findlay (Ohio) 84, Aquinas 81.

Finley Certain Owners Will OK Club's Transfer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Despite a blistering attack on his plan from other American League club owners, Charles O. Finley said today he is certain he will be permitted to transfer the Athletics from Kansas City to Louisville.

Finley said he would accept Gov. Edward T. Breathitt's invitation and would go before the Kentucky General Assembly at its opening session today in Frankfort "not to plead but to ask for their (the lawmakers) support."

"I think—no, I'm confident—the fans here will give as much support, if not more, to major league baseball as those in Kansas City," said the Athletics' owner, putting the emphasis on the confident.

Finley said he was looking forward to the Jan. 16 meeting of the club owners — knowing that three negative votes would defeat his plan.

"I'm not concerned about how many votes it takes to knock something out," he said.

"I'm confident after I have met with them and explained my problems, there will be no difficulty in getting the votes needed."

Finley signed a contract with the State of Kentucky Monday to bring the Athletics to Louisville for the 1964 and 1965 seasons. The signing in Frankfort raised the ire of several of the American League club owners.

Under the pact with the state, the Athletics would play at the State Fairgrounds at Louisville. The state would get five per cent of net gate proceeds and 7½ per cent of gross concession funds.

Finley said nothing was definite at the end of the two-year period about moving to other cities. The Athletics' owner and Kansas City officials have deadlocked over a new contract for lease of a stadium.

Spartans Top Badger Quint
EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State's basketball team, enjoying a home court advantage, swept past the Wisconsin Badgers, 106-90 Monday night for their first Big Ten win in two starts.

The loss was Wisconsin's second in the conference in as many starts and left the Badgers with a 5-6 overall mark, while Michigan State now stands at 7-4 overall.

Coach Fordy Anderson's Spartans went into the game faced with two big questions and appeared to have answered both affirmatively before the final horn.

The first was whether the MSU five could rebound after Saturday's 87-66 trouncing by Illinois, when they managed only 25 points the second half.

The other question mark was one that has plagued the Spartans in their four setbacks — stopping quick — moving and quick-shooting guards — such as Wisconsin's Mike O'Melia and Don Hearden.

The Spartan defense held the two sharp-shooting guards to a total of 15 points — allowing each one yone basket the first half.

Pete Gent led Spartan scoring with 25 points; Wisconsin's Bob Johnson scored 14.

The win established new Big Ten point and field goal records for MSU. The previous highs were 103 points and 44 field goals against Michigan in 1959. State scored 46 field goals against the Badgers.

Patterson Goal Is Still Liston

STOCKHOLM (AP) — "I'll never give up my hope for a chance to meet Sonny Liston again but I realize that maybe I don't deserve it yet. I want some more matches here first."

That was Floyd Patterson's reaction to his Monday night victory over Sante Amonti, the first short step on his comeback campaign after failing to survive the first round of two title bouts with Liston.

"I consider the victory a step on the road toward a new chance at the world heavyweight title," said Patterson, who stopped Amonti in 2:25 of the eighth round of a 10-round match after knocking him down three times.

Although Amonti is the heavyweight champion of Italy he is unranked in the world ratings. Patterson is the No. 8 contender.

In fact there was doubt that Amonti would be approved as an opponent. In 1961 he had been involved in an auto accident in which a woman was killed. At the trial the boxer reportedly told the judge he lost his eyesight for an instant just before the accident. The judge recommended that his driver's

Usual Leaders Pace NBA Race

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Basketball Association season reached its midpoint last weekend with Boston and Los Angeles in their customary top spots in the divisional races and a pair of familiar gents dividing individual honors.

Wilt Chamberlain, who's been pouring in the points again after a short-lived stint as a supporting actor in the San Francisco Warriors' offensive show, and Oscar Robertson, the Cincinnati Royals' ace-of-all-trades, dominated the NBA's five major statistical departments announced today.

Chamberlain leads in scoring, field goal percentage and rebounding while the Big O, second in scoring, is No. 1 in free throw accuracy and assists.

High Altitude Rugged For Pro Stars

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—It isn't easy to go bowling in a jet plane at 25,000 feet and 500 miles an hour.

The clouds keep getting in your way. They bump, and no matter what you think the balls do, they don't.

Two national bowling champions found that out Monday. They tried the first—and without doubt the last—flying bowling alley in history.

It was a full-sized alley set up on a new jet cargo plane. It was complete with an automatic pin-setting machine, side channels to keep stray balls from going off through . . . well, er . . .

Champion Dick Weber of St. Louis stepped up and nearly was blinded by the floodlights and flashbulbs of news photographers aboard a flight to Dallas from New York.

He let go of the ball and down went every pin for a strike.

"I feel like I'm walking on air," he said afterward.

Then came the turn of Sylvia Wene of Philadelphia. She got a spare amid cheers which drowned out the whine of the jet engines.

"Wow!" exclaimed Miss Wene.

Too bad things couldn't have kept up that way. But some days just aren't for flying bowling.

"I'll try to get a smoother altitude," came an intercom announcement from Capt. Russell Sapp, the plane's pilot and a fair hand in the bowling lanes himself.

While the airborne alley was bucking around, Weber went forward and kiddingly said to Sapp:

"Hey, captain, don't you like me? Every time I throw the ball it goes thataway."

With a laugh the captain countered: "You mean I'm ruining your score?"

Something did, for sure.

When the game was over after various delays Miss Wene had a final count of 146, with one strike and six spares. Weber had 144, three strikes and three spares.

The flight, dubbed Operation

Astrobowl, was a publicity stunt staged by American Airlines to demonstrate how big its new cargo planes are.

American Machine and Foundry, which makes bowling alley equipment, joined in the gimmick and sweated through four days getting the alley and pinsetting machine pinned down in the plane.

It also turns out that the World Series of bowling, as it is called, will take place in Dallas Jan. 15 to 26.

Thomas Sets Scoring Mark

CINCINNATI (AP) — Steve Thomas set a Xavier University scoring record Monday night as he dumped in 50 points in leading the Musketeers to a 121-113 non-conference basketball victory over Detroit.

The Musketeers, who have won seven of their eight games, hit with 14 of their first 22 shots to take a 29-9 lead with 12:26 left in the first half. The Titans fought back to within four points, 44-40, at 4:38, but Xavier pulled away again.

At halftime, the score was 62-48. Thomas made 22 of these and added 28 more after the intermission when the Titans started hitting with more of their shots.

They trailed by only seven points, 118-111, at 1:08, but lost the ball on a turnover and Xavier held on to its lead.

All Xavier starters scored in the double figures, with sophomore Bryan Williams adding 27 to Thomas' record-breaking performance. Thomas now has scored 338 points in 11 games for a 30.7 per game average.

John Schramm scored 26 points in 25 minutes for Detroit, and Dorrie Murray added 25. Xavier is now 8-3 and Detroit 5-6.

The 4,798 fans saw two toher school records topple — that for most points scored by a Xavier team and the most points by both teams.

Mikita Watches Bank Balance

MONTREAL (AP) — Stan Mikita, the Chicago Black Hawks' center-ice star, is a fellow who watches his bank balance more closely than his press clippings.

Mikita, who plays second fiddle to teammate Bobby Hull in the ballyhoo department, will settle for a big payday anytime. He forfeited his spot in the National Hockey League All-Star Game last October to hold out for a 1963-64 raise. Last week he picked up a $500 bonus for leading the NHL's point-getters to the season's halfway mark.

The Czechoslovakian-born sparkplug of Chicago's Scooter Line took the cash award by virtue of a four-goal edge on Montreal's Jean Beliveau, who tied Mikita in total points.

Romney Thinks GOP Has New Role As Leader

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. George Romney said today he believes this nation is on the threshold of a new epoch in its political history, with the Republican Party as the potential driving force.

In a speech to the National Press Club, Romney called upon his party's leadership to take the initiative that will make the GOP "a creative minority" that ultimately can regain power.

To do this, the party must work toward a rebirth of the nation and a restoration of the "eternal principles" of its founders, he said.

"The Republican Party must resume its historic responsibility not because it is popular, but because it is right, and because the politics of eternal principle are the best politics of all," said Romney.

He outlined six approaches which the GOP must take in order to accomplish the task, ranging from defining basic problems to "organizing for action at all levels — even in precincts normally considered Democratic."

Huge Problems

The speech was Romney's first major address of 1964 and marked his formal entry into the national campaign in this election year.

The former auto maker, Michigan's first Republican governor in 14 years, has been regarded as one of the dark horse candidates for the GOP presidential nomination although he has said he is not and will not become, a candidate.

He described the nation today as facing problems of the magnitude of those preceding the Civil War and the Great Depression, both of which he said, marked the onset of new political eras in the United States.

As new leadership—Abraham Lincoln in 1860 and Franklin Roosevelt in the 1930's—emerged from these "social and political cataclysms," said Romney, the same thing may happen again.

This, he said, could involve a shift among the electorate, now "normally Democratic," back to the Republican Party if the GOP can seize the opportunity.

"After decades of moving in new directions, in a new age, the people are beginning to ask questions," he said.

Six Steps

"They are beginning to wonder whether their country really expects anything of them, or whether they can just relax and let their country do everything for them."

The six major steps which the Republican Party must take, Romney said, are these:

"Resolve to face basic issues and define basic problems."

"Speak out for proven principle and redefine the beliefs that guided the founding fathers."

"Show clearly how those proven principles can be applied to problems of today."

"Take its programs to the people."

"Actively recruit into its ranks all those concerned about lack of direction and purpose, who see through the illusion that government and money can solve every problem, and those . . . deprived of full opportunity to pursue their happiness in a free society."

"Organize for action at all levels."

Kennedy Held Life Of Artist Stern, Lonely

NEW YORK (AP)—President John F. Kennedy, a Pulitzer Prize-winning author, wrote an introduction to a book only months before he died describing the life of the creative artist as a "stern and lonely" one.

"Too often in the past, we have thought of the artist as an idler and dilettante and the lover of arts as somehow sissy or effete," the late president wrote last summer in "Creative America," to be published next month for the proposed national cultural center in Washington. The book has been dedicated to his memory.

"We have done both an injustice," Kennedy wrote. "The life of the artist is, in relation to work, stern and lonely. He has labored hard, often amid deprivation, to perfect his skill."

Kennedy did much of the work on "Profiles in Courage" while recuperating from major surgery to correct a back ailment. The book became a best seller and won a Pulitzer Prize. Since his assassination last November it has risen again to the best seller lists.

Russia Using Wall As Lever

BERLIN (AP) — The East German government is demanding West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt's personal participation at the start of any new negotiations to reopen the Communist wall to West Berliners.

The Communist demand appeared to raise a new obstacle to any agreement to renew the Christmas pass arrangement that ended at midnight Jan. 5 after 17 days of visits by West Berliners to relatives in the Soviet sector of the city.

The East German condition was put to Brandt in a letter from Deputy Premier Willi Stoph, an authoritative source disclosed Monday night. It was regarded as part of the Communist regime's continuing campaign to whittle away at the refusal of the Western Allies in Berlin and the West German government to recognize it.

Brandt is under pressure from the Western Allies and his own government to avoid any gestures that could hurt the cause of nonrecognition.

Brandt's city government as well as the Western Allies have stipulated that new negotiations must be held on the same level as the talks that resulted in the previous agreement. Those talks were held between Cultural Affairs Ministers Horst Kober of West Berlin and Erich Wendt of East Germany.

Sign Fighters Warned On Loss Of Highway Aid

Sen. Charles McManiman, D-Houghton, the only two members of the senate committee conducting the hearing, both from the Upper Peninsula.

"Sure they cooperated 88 per cent, with a baseball bat over their head," roared McManiman. "I don't believe in the State Highway Department getting orders from Washington."

This drew the only applause from some 50 witnesses and spectators in the Senate chamber.

"Unfair To Majority" Rathfoot said it was unfair to the 88 per cent who had cooperated in removing advertising signs of highway right-of-way to permit 12 per cent to persist.

He said verbal promises were made to some sign-builders that they could continue to use the signs but these were not binding to the highway department.

"Michigan has ignored this law since 1925," Rathfoot said. "That is why we are in the mess we are now. If you want to pass some kind of a bill, take heed that it will not jeopardize the federal money we need to build highways."

"I'm trying to protect 9 million people in Michigan," said Rathfoot, "not some 2,000 with signs still on our highways." Aurey Strohpaal, representing the Western Michigan Tourist Association, said the association believed the federal government should amend its order to give relief to thousands of small businessmen in Michigan who need the signs to attract customers.

"I don't know of anyone who voluntarily took their signs down," he declared. "They were ordered to—or else."

James Hall, of the Eastern Michigan Tourist Association, agreed.

Non-Stop Hop

MORON AIR FORCE BASE, Spain (AP)—In a new demonstration of mobility, the U.S. Tactical Air Command sent 18 F104 fighters on the first non-stop deployment from the U.S. West Coast to Europe Monday in 10 hours, 40 minutes.

Making the 6,150-mile flight from George Air Force Base, in California, to this base near Sevilla, the 476th Fighter Squadron was refueled six times in flight.

Christian Unity Is Given Stress

An AP News Analysis By Eugene Levin Associated Press Writer

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI during his pilgrimage to the Holy Land put a new stress on the search for Christian unity, suggesting that his Roman Catholic Church and other churches draw closer in a spirit of understanding while working to achieve a united church.

The 66-year-old pontiff has not put aside his vision of a single Christian church with the bishop of Rome at its head. But two momentous acts of his pilgrimage indicate a willingness to accept a sort of coexistence for the present.

In a moving message from Bethlehem, the Pope committed his church anew to "every possibility by which mutual understanding, respect and charity may be fostered so as to smooth the way to a future — and, please God, not too distant — meeting with our Christian brothers still separated from us."

Later the Pope and Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras of Constantinople (Istanbul) told their 800 million followers they must work and pray for a united church.

Clearly Pope Paul was seeking to take the emphasis away from talk of eventual Christian unity, which many religious scholars believe may be centuries away, to talk of closer cooperation now.

Three basic elements emerged from his speeches in Palestine: That the "will of Christ is pressing" on all Christians to attain "the supreme blessing and honor of a united church."

That the Roman Catholic Church continues to consider itself the one church "already within the safety of the fold of Christ," and that unity must signify a return of other Christians for whom "the door of the fold is open."

That for the present Roman Catholics and other Christians must have as their objective a desire "that every step toward reunion and interchange of views should be inspired by love of Christ and the church."

President Plans Regular Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says he plans to keep a "pretty regular schedule" in the White House.

He told reporters he usually rises at 6:30 a.m. and goes over official papers for the next two hours. Then, he said, he likes to report to the office at 8:30 or 9.

Johnson added that he swam eight lengths of the White House pool Monday as part of his regimen of exercise, and has been making a practice of swimming before lunch and dinner.

Williams Says He Won't Run For Governor

race the last time (in winning his seat as Congressman-at-large), and I think that he was improving all of the time.

"And I think that there are other reasons to believe that he could be very effective."

As for the role Williams himself will play in the 1964 campaign, the former governor said he hoped to spend a good deal of time in Michigan—when his Washington duties permit.

"I have still to work that out with the secretary of state and the President, but I would hope to be there a considerable period of time," he declared.

"And if the secretary of state and the President and the national Democratic party feel that I could be helpful, I think there are a few other fields I might contribute in outside as well as inside the state."

Romney's Record

Asked how the Democrats hope to beat Romney, Williams said he thinks that the governor has "made certain contributions and suffered certain failures."

Williams said the public will be able to size up Romney's contributions in comparison to the contributions the Democratic candidate can make, along with the party's program.

"I think they'll have no difficulty in making their decision," he added.

Williams said it is premature to try to make a definite assessment of Romney's administration, since he still has another year in office.

"He's got some of the biggest questions yet to answer," Williams explained. "He hasn't come up with an answer on what he's going to do about education and what he's going to do about some other services."

Political Review

Williams, wearing his familiar green-and-white polka dot bow tie, relaxed on an overstuffed chair in the corner of his office during the interview. He answered questions on a wide range of political subjects:

— The future ("I think the challenges in Africa are adequate for some time if I should be so fortunate as to be here. What I do after that, I don't know. I've shifted into many different areas, none of which I had too much premonition of, and so I would hope that something would turn up as we come along.") — The vice presidency ("I think the likelihood of that is so far-fetched that I don't think I'd even comment on it. . . . Let me say that anybody, of course, would be proud to accept it.") — Will Staebler get labor's support?

"I think the Democratic candidates have enjoyed a high measure of support from the labor organizations. It isn't monolithic. I think the statistics are that about a third of the labor people in Michigan vote Republican and two-thirds Democratic."

"And I think the statistics will also indicate that the support of the Democratic party is pretty dispersed and that it comes from all groups—so that I think it is a general party."

"I think if you want an answer as to where organized labor is going to put its support, they're the people to answer that. . . . They are able to speak for themselves."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan was reported today to be holding to his decision against running again for governor.

Williams, assistant secretary of state for African affairs, met Monday night with Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers; his brother, Roy Reuther; and Leonard Woodcock, a UAW vice president.

There had been speculation Walter Reuther would urge Williams to seek the Democratic nomination for governor of the state.

Williams was not available for comment but an aide said Williams was not asked at the meeting to run for governor. Reuther had said prior to the meeting he did not intend to ask Williams to run. Reuther was not available today to discuss the meeting.

Seven of the Faunce children were home when the fire broke out—possibly from a cigarette. Faunce's wife Theresa Ann said he was smoking when he went to bed late Saturday.

Govt. Archives Loot Recovered

DETROIT (AP) — Historical documents valued at more than $500,000 — including letters of American presidents — have been recovered in Detroit, the Federal Bureau of Investigation said Monday.

The papers were part of a collection taken from the National Archives in Washington in 1962, the FBI said. Agents said they were found in suitcases confiscated from Robert Bradford Murphy, 45, and his wife, Elizabeth, 32. The FBI charged the Murphys with interstate transportation of stolen property and theft of government property.

Special agent Bernard C. Brown said the documents were examined by Phillip Bauer, archivist from the National Archives, and Dr. Philip Mason, an archivist from Detroit's Wayne State University. The two men determined all were original, Brown said.

The letters recovered included 50 written by President Monroe during the 1818-1820 period of his presidency.

The FBI said the Murphys first were arrested Thursday on a 1962 Pensacola, Fla., warrant charging them with interstate telephone and telegraph fraud.

The Murphys came to Detroit two months ago. Mrs. Murphy is free under $10,000 personal bond. Her husband is held in lieu of $25,000 bond.
